

Fever - Excerpt from the Mind - Brain - Body Connection Series

Most people believe that a high fever is a bad thing. They associate a high fever with illness and disease, believing illness or disease is creating the fever. Therefore, they may believe if the fever continues to increase the individual is getting sicker.

Because humans have forgotten the truth that the human body is a holographic thought form, or picture, they associate everything they experience to the operation of the human body thought form as if the human body form is the "cause" of the experiences. Doing so is similar to putting a finger puppet on your finger, pretending you are the finger puppet, getting a stomach ache, and blaming the stomach ache on the finger puppet. Picture, images, forms do not get sick, anymore than the finger puppet does.

Illness and disease are not the result of the picture of the human body thought form. Illness and disease are the result of distortion in the coding of the thought of the human body thought form. We call that coding human DNA. What science sees, and calls human DNA is also a part of the holographic picture image of the human body thought form. Particle science is in the process of remembering what humans call manifest matter is holographic picture images. Medical science is not even close to such a thought, and are focused on healing the picture. Yet, many within medical science include in their beliefs the thought of an intelligent creator, while many within particle science do not.

Medical science does recognize that a high fever is a good thing, and say it is the immune system creating more heat in the body to combat bacteria and viruses which create illness and disease. The question should be what creates such an immune system. Of course no one has been able to know the answer to such a question. As well, there are false beliefs surrounding what a normal body temperature is. The temperature of the human body ranges in temperature depending on where you take the temperature. Some internal organs maintain high temperatures, above the believed to be normal of 98.6 degrees. The average body temperature will be lower in the morning and rise higher mid afternoon. It will also rise higher when the body is in sleep mode.

The answer to the temperature of the human body form is the vibration rate of the ray of consciousness animating the human body form. Every person holds a unique vibration rate and is why every person will also hold a unique base line body temperature. The unique vibration rate also determines the unique base line heart and breathing rate, the rate of digestion, the moment of birth, the moment of releasing from the human body form, the monthly ovulation cycle in both females and males (yes, males also have such a cycle), the biological clock, the speed of aging of the body form, the speed of learning something new, the speed at which one things, speaks, reads and processes information within the brain. Everything about the individual expression is based on the vibration rate of the individual expression.

The human body thought form cannot house, or hold, all of energy of the ray of consciousness animating the human body thought form. The rest of the energy of the ray of consciousness, expressing as the human body thought form, is held "outside of", or "surrounding" the picture of the human body thought form. What humans call the auric fields is part of the rest of the energy of the ray of consciousness that will not fit into the thought form of the human body and is why such auric fields exist, within the human expression.

The human body thought form is composed of the same level of energy radiation the manifest picture of the earth hologram is. That is why the human body thought form is seen within the picture of the earth hologram. We would say that the human body form is composed of the same elements of earth. Such elements are what humans call manifest matter, which are pictures of thoughts.

The auric fields surround the picture of the human body thought form because they are created by the higher energy points of the ray of consciousness expressing as human. The ray of consciousness, animating the human body thought form, is a ray of consciousness projected from the creation point, or center, of our local Source mind, which humans call the sun. The ray of consciousness is a ray of radiation of our local star - sun Source conscious mind. The ray of consciousness steps down in energy as all thoughts do, following the sequence of the Eternal Spiral of creation. All thoughts of Source hold the same Eternal Spiral sequence as the template of the thought. The step down sequence is 12, 9, 6, 3, 12 zero. This IS what humans call the vertical chakras. The ray consciousness is a spiraling ray of radiation projected from the creation point of our star - sun mind, into the lowest layer of radiation of our star - sun mind, which humans call the solar plane.

The picture of the manifest hologram always occurs in plane one of the planetary shield. We call plane one the troposphere and also the biosphere. A planetary shield is one thought of Source mind which the individual rays of consciousness, or individual expressions of Source, are projected into from the creation point of mind. Therefore, the thought of the planetary shield is also a spiral that steps down 12, 9, 6, 3, 12 zero.

Humans call the layers of radiation of a planetary shield as follows.

- 12 - Thermosphere Pause - creates plane four Thermosphere or polarized frequency band 11 & 10.
- 9 - Mesosphere Pause - creates plane three Mesosphere or polarized frequency bands 8 & 7
- 6 - Stratosphere Pause - creates plane two Stratosphere or polarized frequency bands 5 & 4

- 3 - Troposphere Pause - creates plane one Troposphere or polarized frequency bands 2 & 1
- 12 zero - outer space - melds into what humans call the solar winds

As we can see, what we call the upper layers of the atmosphere will not fit into the picture we call the manifest earth. It is the result of the energy of Source mind stepping down in radiation to create the layers of the planetary shield.

The vertical chakras of the ray of consciousness correspond to the layers of radiation we call the layers of the atmosphere.

- Chakra 12 corresponds to the Thermosphere
- Chakra 9 corresponds to the Mesosphere
- Chakra 6 corresponds to the Stratosphere
- Chakra 3 corresponds to the Troposphere
- The 12 zero point surrounds these layers of radiation creating the boundary of the auric fields.

The picture of the human body thought form can only express within the 3 point layer of radiation of the earth planetary shield, as that is the level of radiation it is composed of. This means that the energy of the 12, 9 & 6 points of the ray of consciousness will not fit into the picture of the human body thought form. That is the rest of your energy of your ray of consciousness. Humans are expressing within the picture of the earth hologram because that is the level of energy radiation that humans fell in vibration to.

The picture of the human body thought form expresses in plane one, the 3 point layer of the earth hologram. The code for the picture of the human body form is coded to express of the radiation of plane one, also called the troposphere. This means for the ray of consciousness to animate the picture of the human body form, to express as the human body form within the picture of the earth hologram, they can only do so with the amount of energy of the ray of consciousness of the 3rd chakra. This is called a 3 point accretion rate. The code for the picture of the human body thought form is what humans call DNA. This is why science cannot find such DNA anywhere else except within the troposphere of earth. It is coded from the same level of radiation expressing as the manifest picture of the earth hologram. This is why the human body thought form cannot express anywhere else within creation.

The vertical chakra points of the ray of consciousness also correspond to what we call brain waves. The brain waves of the individual ray ARE what humans call auric fields. At the planetary level, the collective brain waves of human consciousness ARE what science calls earth's magnetic fields. Science is telling us that earth's magnetic fields are weakening. We will discover what that really means and understand that they are not weakening but human consciousness is increasing in vibration rate.

But first, what does all of this have to do with a fever, illness and disease of humanity? The distortion that creates illness and disease is distorted coding in the coding of the picture of the human body thought form, or distortion in human DNA. The distortion is the result of family of consciousness of human consciousness falling in vibration rate to become the viruses that have created illness and disease in human consciousness for millions of years, per current earth time. What humans call, and experience, as illness and disease is distorted coding in human DNA, which creates distortion in the picture of the human body thought form. Experiencing the effects of such distortion, or illness and disease, is the result of experiencing how thoughts are translated through the distorted coding in human DNA.

This means the energy of your ray of consciousness of the 12, 9 & 6 point chakras do not experience, feel, know, what it feels like to experience what humans call illness and disease, nor does our Source star - sun mind. The distortion is only occurring below the level of energy of the 3 point chakra, not within the 3 point chakra. This means in polarized chakras 2 & 1, which is the polarized energy of the 3rd chakra, animating the human body thought form.

The only thing that can heal the distortion in human DNA is the higher energy of Source, which steps down from the creation point, within the ray of consciousness following the step down sequence of 12, 9, 6, 3, 12 zero.

A fever is the result of you stepping more of the energy of your 12 point chakra down into the 3 point chakra to increase the vibration rate of the 3 point chakra which puts more of the energy of your ray of consciousness into the coding of the thought of the human body thought form. This occurs deeper within the so called cells of the body than modern science can see. The higher energy then vibrates the lower energy, or the chemicals that compose the cells of the body, and the increased vibration rate in the DNA is what can reset the DNA to the original, non distorted code. This is what creates the so called body's natural immune system.

When illness and disease are experienced it is the result of distorted DNA coding turning on and playing within the DNA coding of the human body thought form. Because you have part of the energy of your ray of consciousness plugged into, or seated, within the thought of the human body form you experience what it feels like when that distorted coding plays. The cure for the illness or disease is it reset the coding of human DNA. Again, this occurs via you putting more of your higher Source energy into the coding of human DNA.

If the distortion in the DNA saturates the DNA, meaning it is written as long code of thought programming, it may require a very large amount of your higher energy to try to reset the code. This is what creates seemingly incurable diseases. The ray of consciousness does not stop the process of working to reset the distorted code and continues to step more energy down into the distorted DNA.

This in turn increases the vibration rate of the energy seated in the code of human DNA at a faster rate and is what creates the "believed" cause of an incurable disease shortening the life span.

When a ray of consciousness births as the human body expression they spread the energy of the ray stepped down to birth through the coding of the human body form, or human DNA. This is what it means to be seated, or plugged into, the thought of the human body thought form. The amount of energy of the ray of consciousness that assumes control of animating the human body thought form is called the "birth quantum of energy". This is below the level of energy of the 3 point chakra. The birth quantum is based on many things, one being the vibration rate of the baby body thought form, co-created by the earth parents. The birth quantum cannot be higher in energy than the level of energy the earth parents have contributed to the baby body thought form. Too much birth quantum would create what humans call death of the baby body form. So, the birth quantum sets in place the beginning vibration rate of the baby human expression, which will determine the accretion rate as the baby body form grows to an adult body form. This occurs via the ray of consciousness continuing to step more energy down into the thought of the baby body form to grow the body, or turn on more of the coding of the human body thought form.

This then determines the strength of the so called natural immune system and how much of the inherited, distorted DNA the ray of consciousness will be able to transmute during the life experience. So, if a ray of consciousness is birthing into a distorted DNA code that holds more distortion than not, and does so at a lower birth quantum vibration rate, the life experience may be filled with many illnesses and diseases.

The consciousness seated within the human DNA then loses all memory of everything they knew prior to birthing as human as they adopt the lower energy of human DNA and are then programmed with the false beliefs of those who birthed before them. Babies will retain some memory of truth for awhile but the continuing turning on of more of the coding of human DNA can quickly turn off any memory retained, especially if those they experience work to turn it off via forcing them to only focus on the earth hologram and to believe as they are told.

Each daily, body awake cycle, the consciousness seated within human DNA continues to turn on more of the program of human DNA, drawing to themselves more thoughts from the collective of human consciousness, that are in resonate vibration with their unique vibration rate. And the life experience unfolds, literally, as it plays through human DNA. Each daily cycle of accretion increases the vibration rate of the energy seated in human DNA. This creates the experience of the passage of time. As the vibration rate of the seated consciousness cycles through a daily accretion cycle, the embodied consciousness cycles up and down in the vertical pillar chakras, depending on the thoughts they are focused on. When a maximum daily accretion point of reached, by the embodied part of the ray of consciousness, the focus is then shifted up through the vibration rate of the ray. This is what creates body sleep mode. It is why the human body form becomes hotter when in body sleep mode and why the functions of the body slow way down but the sparking in the brain increases. It is also why sleep can assist healing illness and disease. When the focus of the embodied consciousness cycles up in vibration during body sleep mode any distortion that can be is reset in human DNA. This is what creates the feeling of being refreshed after a good night's sleep. It is also why meditation can assist in healing, as well as prayer. The key is to focus the attention upward, into a higher vibration rate. This is what occurs when you focus inward, slow the thoughts way down, and focus filling yourself with the love of Source mind and balanced thoughts. Re-programming the human brain IS re-programming human DNA, which IS the process of healing the illnesses and diseases that make humans sick.

The vibration rate of the vertical pillar chakras create brain waves. Brain waves are the same thing as auric fields. The correspondence is as follows.

- Source Mind - Solar Winds - Gamma Brain Waves
- 12 point chakra - Delta Brain Waves
- 9 point chakra - Theta Brain Waves
- 6 point chakra - Alpha Brain Waves
- 3 point chakra - Beta Brain Waves

This is why more illness and disease can occur within people, children, who spend more time focusing in the lower energy beta brain waves, which is required to remain focused within the earth hologram. Doing so is what creates stress in the body and allows distorted DNA programming to turn on faster than it can be released and reset. This then creates inflammation, as too much lower energy becomes trapped in the body form, which then leads to pain. The cure for pain is to release the distorted DNA coding, reset the DNA to the original code, and allow the energy of Source to flow naturally within the coding of human DNA. The distortion in human DNA blocks, or turns off, the higher energy of Source. Imbalanced thoughts that are not released create more distortion in human DNA which in turn leads to more pain. The challenge with pain issues is that each person inherits the distorted history of imbalanced thought memories and when it turns on and plays in human DNA it creates blockages, which lead to pain. Pain can then become the reoccurring program as it becomes a thought that plays over and over. The thought experience of pain is then associated by the brain with other thought experiences, which can lead to any and all thought experiences being a trigger for pain.
